-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

During the 7/28/06 interview summary amendments were discussed to place all of the claims in condition for allowance. However, upon updating the search, a new reference was found that is relevant and will be applied in a new grounds of rejection. Because the Office has reopened the prosecution, the amendments entered below are being entered after the prosecution has been reopened and no fees are due.

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Lindeman on 7/28/06.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2,4,6-7, 9,12-23, 25, 46-52 and 73 –78 are rejected under 35

U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Konecke (USP 6,663,831).

Konecke teach a sampling and testing device(20) comprising a sample collection and extraction area(22), a detection area(24) and a sample retaining well(26) that retains sample for other testing. Absorbent material(100) covers core(80), that transfers the extracted fluid to the test devices(155) in detection area(24) and to the sample retaining well(26). Cap(40) is placed over the absorbent material(100) and further comprises roller heads(70, 70A) that discharge the sample from the absorbent material(100). The claimed "holding portion" has been read on the device(20) and the claimed "retaining portion" has been read on the roller heads(70,70A) that have a first size(70) and a second size(70A). The claimed "expandable collector member" has been read on the absorbent material(100) and the "discharge member" has been read on the core(80). The claimed "blocking portion" has been read on cap(40) .
